It’s time to design the 2019 Mascot for the KPL Children’s Department!

Chickpea, designed by Kade Garretson, has served us well for the past year. But it’s time for a new mascot to take its place. All children up through grade 5 are invited to submit a design now through December 1. The winning mascot will be turned into a stuffed animal! The child who designed it will get a stuffed animal for themselves, plus we’ll keep one the Kendallville Public Library and another at its Limberlost Branch in Rome City.

Here are the guidelines for this year’s contest:
• Open to kids in 5th grade and under.
• Entries accepted through Saturday, December 1.
• Entries must be original, not based on existing characters.
• Entries must be fully colored in and drawn on the official entry form.
• Designs must be drawn by the child with no help from parents.
• Staff members will narrow down the entries to the top three.
• The winner will be determined by the number of votes on Facebook.

Entry forms are available now at the Kendallville Public Library, its Limberlost Branch, and online at www.kendallvillelibrary.org.

The Workforce Readiness challenge is now live on Design Your Climb! It’s a collaboration between Impact Institute, WorkOne Northeast and Be Someone Now.

All activities in this challenge track are free, and will be a great way to prepare you to enter the workforce or transition to a new career. They include registering with www.indianacareerexplorer.com and taking a few simple surveys to see where your talents might lie, registering for and attending a free WorkOne workshop, and even simply stopping by the Dowling Road office to see what these organizations are about.

The Workforce Readiness Challenge may be the newest challenge available through Design Your Climb, but there are many to choose from, including a variety of Library-related challenges, one developed by the Kendallville Day Care Center, and another designed by Experience the Heart of Kendallville. As you complete activities, you’ll earn points (anywhere from 1-3 per activity). Once you reach 10 points, you’ll be eligible for our prize drawings, held about every six weeks. The latest drawing, on November 1, was for a $50 Kendallville Chamber of Commerce Gift Check. The more points you earn, the better your chances to win! Get started with Design Your Climb on our website at www.kendallvillelibrary.org or through our mobile app. In December, we’ll give away a $50 Kroger Gift card to help with your holiday meal shopping!

Thank you to our Veterans

The Adventure Walks in Kendallville and Rome City will honor Veterans this month. In October, the Kendallville Public Library requested letters from anyone wishing to write a "Thank You" to Veterans - either someone they know, or to anyone who has served or is serving in the Armed Forces. Many of these letters will be featured in the Adventure Walks throughout the month of November.

The walk in Kendallville starts at the front of the Kendallville Public Library and continues in a loop around the west side of Bixler Lake Park. The walk in Rome City begins at Grant Park and follows the trail to Kelly Park. A new story, activity or theme is featured each month, so there is always something new to read or experience.

Visit smile.amazon.com for your shopping, and up to 15% of your purchase can be donated to the Foundation for the Kendallville Public Library.

Monday, November 26 through Saturday, December 8 - Paracord Dolls
Monday, December 10 through Monday, December 31 - Christmas Ornaments

Our first three categories have been adopted! Thanks to Jill Jolliff and Ann Butterfield for stepping up to help keep our shelves neat and orderly and our collection complete. Between the two adopters, Biographies, Self Help and Crafts-Knitting will be taken care of.

You can adopt a category in either the Adult, Teen or Children’s Department. To get started, simply stop in and complete a request form. We’ll give you the first category of your choice that’s available, and you can even take on more than one if you’d like.

Adoption means that you will stop in periodically to straighten the items and make sure they are in the proper order. A staff member will train you at the beginning, so you’ll know just how it’s done. You’ll also have the option to make a monetary donation to your category, to help develop the collection.

Category Adopted by...YOU!

I'm Trying to Love Spiders
By Bethany Barton

I’m Trying to Love Spiders is a delightfully silly, interactive book packed with amazing arachnid facts - just as the cover proclaims. The narrator is desperately trying to convince herself that spiders are cool. They have been around forever; they build really cool webs; they turn bugs into Slurpees! Well, that last one sounds disgusting, but you get the message.

Kids will love smashing the spiders as they creep closer to the reader’s hand and they will love learning about these creepy-cool creatures!

My Leaf Book
By Monica Wellington

Get inspired to go on a journey admiring and collecting leaves of all shapes, sizes, and colors! In this story, a young girl visits an arboretum and gets excited about collecting leaves in her very own leaf book. She uses a tree guide to identify leaves as she walks, and describes how each leaf looks.

Absolutely brilliant fall colors pop off pages filled with detailed realistic renderings of oak leaves, ginkgo leaves, birch leaves, and many more. Extra facts about each leaf are included at the bottom of each page, and ideas for fun leaf projects are described at the end of the book.

Curriculum Connections:
• Science: investigation and careful observation of plants

The Grand Escape: The Greatest Prison Breakout of the 20th Century
By Neal Bascomb
During World War I, as the Allied and German forces battled in the trenches and in the air, any captured soldiers were sent to German prisons. The most dangerous or skilled POWs were sent to the prison Holzminden, also known as Hellminden to the prisoners within. The prison was run by the ruthless commandant named Karl Niemeyer.

This book tells the story of a group of pilots who banded together to escape this prison. These breakout artists forged documents, bribed guards, and smuggled supplies all while digging a tunnel out of the prison, and in doing so they inspired their fellow countrymen during the darkest of days.

Readers of historical non-fiction will love this title.

The Body
By Stephen King
In 1960’s America, twelve-year-old Gordie Lachance and his three friends set out on a journey to find a boy named Ray Brower who has disappeared from a neighboring town. As they search for his body along the railroad tracks during a wretchedly hot summer in Maine, they come to terms with death and their small town futures. Most importantly they learn that monsters aren’t hiding underneath their beds, but instead in the hearts of people. The movie Stand by Me was adapted from this coming of age tale about the exploration of friendship and adventure. If you’re a fan of that movie, you will want to read this tale.
