WE ARE HITTING YOU WITH SOME BIG TECHNOLOGY THIS MONTH!

SEE DETAILS ON PAGE 2.
Library News You Need to Know

Check out a nationwide Mobile Hotspot from the Kendallville Public Library!

Ten hotspots available beginning July 1

Here are the benefits:
- Unlimited data for up to 10 devices at once
- Quickly connects - no software to install
- Nationwide coverage via Sprint’s mobile network - if Sprint has coverage, you’ll have coverage (3G and 4G LTE capable)
- Free 1 week check out (+ 1 renewal, if there are no holds)
- 10 hour battery life
- 2.4” LCD Color Touchscreen

Another way the Kendallville Public Library is providing you with access to information...for life.

Need to catch up on that new Netflix series everyone is talking about, but don’t have a subscription? No problem! Check out the Roku, a streaming media player now available at the Kendallville Public Library. An internet connection is required. This little device will give you access to a variety of networks for free, including Netflix, the Smithsonian Channel, Paranormal Reality TV, TV Guide, Moving Art, Honor, Moonlight Movies, and Saddle Up Westerns.

Descriptions of these channels and others available on the Kendallville Public Library’s Roku can be found on www.roku.com/channels (not all channels listed are available on the library’s Roku). Most channels are commercial-free, but a few will have required commercial viewing.

The Roku is available for a check out period of one week, and can be renewed once if no other patrons have placed a hold on the item. The Roku will be kept at the Kendallville Public Library, but patrons who visit the Limberlost Branch in Rome City can request that it be delivered to Rome City for pickup.
There is still plenty of time to participate in the Summer Reading adventure! Here are the age levels:

- Children (infants through students entering grade 5): Each time they read or are read to for 20 minutes, they can color a spot on their reading record. Once the coloring page is full, they can bring it to the library for a prize and a Grand Prize entry ticket. Plus, they can earn more Grand Prize entries by completing the Super Bonus Reads!

- Teen (students entering grades 6-12): By reading two books or reading for three hours, teens can complete a goal and earn a prize plus a ticket for the Grand Prize drawing. They can complete Explore More or Reading Challenges to earn more Grand Prize entry tickets.

- Adult (age 18 and up): Adults can meet their goals by reading just one book a month. That will earn them prizes and a ticket in the Grand Prize drawing. Answering one brief question a month, too, will earn them a second Grand Prize entry.

Nature Photo Contest: Entries Due July 6

The Gene Stratton-Porter State Historic Site and the Kendallville Public Library invite amateur photographers ages 6 and up to participate in the Chautauqua Days Photography Contest. The contest is broken into three age categories: Child (6-12), Teen (13-17) and Adult (18+). People’s Choice and Best in Show winners will be selected for each category.

Photos must be submitted at the Limberlost Branch Library in Rome City by Monday, July 6 at 8:00 p.m. Photos will be displayed at the library from July 7-19, and will be displayed at the Carriage House Visitor’s Center at the GSP Site from July 20 through August 4. People’s Choice voting will take place at both locations, and professional judging will take place from July 27-31. Winners will be announced during the Chautauqua Festival in early August.

Complete rules and entry forms can be found at the Gene Stratton-Porter State Historic Site in Rome City, the Kendallville Public Library or its Limberlost Branch in Rome City, or online at www.kendallvillelibrary.org.
July is the perfect month to read books about American traditions, icons, and history. Our stock includes both non-fiction and fiction books. Here is a list of popular picture books for children revolving around the Fourth of July:

- Fourth of July Mice by Bethany Roberts
- Hurray for the Fourth of July by Wendy Watson
- Apple Pie Fourth of July by Janet Wong
- Red, White, and Boom by Lee Wardlaw

If you would rather learn more about the history and traditions of America and the Fourth of July, check out these non-fiction titles:

- Fireworks, Picnics, and Flags by James Giblin
- A series of books called A First Look at America’s Presidents including books about popular presidents George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.
- A new series of books called American Icons which includes books about Independence Hall and the Star Spangled Banner. These books are special because they are enriched with added value. With these books, you can visit www.av2books.com and then enter the book’s unique code, found inside the book you are reading. The site will prompt you with a security code, such as the last word on page 16. The reader can then listen to audio clips about the book topic or watch short video clips.

“Search and Find” Books

A great way to introduce young or reluctant readers to books is to recommend “Search and Find” books. The Children’s Department at the Kendallville Public Library has a variety of these types of books. With series books such as Where’s Waldo, Can You See What I See, and I Spy, we most likely have a “Search and Find” book in a variety of formats, such as board book, leveled reader, and picture book.

A “Search and Find” board book would be perfect for young children from infants to toddlers since the construction of board books is so strong. A leveled reader “Search and Find” is great for kids just learning to read simple words and phrases. Where’s Waldo would be great for these emerging readers as well. Then, when they are more proficient, the more detailed books such as I Spy would probably be a good match.

Some newer choices in our collection include “Search and Find” books based on Frozen, Sesame Street, Minnie Mouse, and The Minions. Check out our new shelf or ask a staff member to help you find some of these great books.

Lumberjanes (Volume 1)
By Noelle Stevenson, Grace Ellis, and Brooke A. Allen

Things are not what they seem at this hardcore camp for ladies. Strange animals live in the forest, secret caves litter the landscape, and cryptic writings reside on the walls. Luckily, there are five intelligent female campers who are prepared to decipher the writings, explore the hidden caves, and escape the three-eyed creatures. As the five young ladies set out on their journey, the mystery gets deeper and the stakes get higher. Volume 1 sets up an exhilarating tale that will be resolved in the soon-to-be-published second volume.

Readers of graphic novels, science fiction, and camp tales will enjoy this title.
